Shooting Sports Education Center predominantly funded by student fees despite more usage by non-students

The Georgia Southern University Shooting Sports Education Center is being used more by non-students than students, but students are paying for a larger portion of the budget than the public, Gene Sherry, campus recreation and intramurals executive director, said. Full Story.

Snell Leads Eagles in Georgia Tech Invitational

This weekend, the Georgia Southern track and field team competed in the Georgia Tech Invitational in Atlanta. This was one of the final events for the Eagles before the Sun Belt Tournament on May 11 and the team did very well.

Junior Sholonda Snell started the successful weekend for GS by placing third in the 800 meter race with a two minute, 11.12-second run. This was her third top 10 finish in the event this season. Full Story.

First Date Horror Stories: The Bad, The Worse, and The Scary (From Reflector Magazine)

Ever been on a first date and thought, "There's no way this can get any worse"...but then it does?

Yeah, we've all been there. Some stories are funny, awful, and others are just plain scary. I gave you the chance to tell yours.

Without further ado, here are first date horror stories submitted by Georgia Southern students. Full Story.

From New York to Savannah: A Georgia Southern graduate's role at one of the city's newest music venues (From Reflector Magazine)

Talking to Betsy Martin Schmidtt, it might seem like she has been involved in the music business for a while. Talk to her more, though, and you will hear that that is not necessarily the case.

"Just working with Charlie at the Stage on Bay is my first venture into the music business, even though I've enjoyed it and gone to tons of concerts in my life," Martin Schmidtt said. Full Story.
